- e) The report setting out the justifications for the merger, acquisition and division,
- f) Estimated financial statements/estimated balance sheet covering the three-year period following the merger, acquisition and division.

(3) Granted approval shall be null and void in the event that merger, acquisition and division transactions are not initiated by taking a decision at the general assembly of the company within three months as of the date of notification of the approval. Unless a new approval is received, these procedures cannot be continued.

Voluntary Liquidation

ARTICLE 10 – (1) The companies' termination of their activities and voluntary liquidation are subject to the approval of the Board. The company should apply to the Agency with a Board of Directors' resolution on the termination of its activities and voluntary liquidation.

(2) In the event that a resolution regarding liquidation is not taken by the company within three months following the date of the approval, granted approval shall be null and void and these procedures cannot be continued unless a new approval is received. Liquidation procedures should be initiated within fifteen days at the latest following the resolution regarding liquidation.

(3) Companies to be liquidated pursuant to this article are required to submit a liquidation plan to the Agency, indicating that they will be able to fulfill their obligations against their clients. Transactions that will retain the company from fulfilling its obligations, particularly allowance payments, are not allowed in the voluntary liquidation plan.

(4) After obtaining the necessary approval regarding voluntary liquidation, saving financing companies are required to announce their status in at least two newspapers printed and distributed throughout Turkey and they are also required to notify their clients, creditors or other persons and institutions that can be considered as relevant.

(5) The liquidation of companies, the fulfillment of their obligations and the collection of their receivables are ex-officio carried out by the company itself. Companies in this situation continue to operate until their assets and liabilities expire, depending on their maturity; however, they are not allowed to acquire new clients and to undertake any new commitments that will retain the fulfillment of the obligations after obtaining the necessary approval for liquidation.

(6) In the event it is determined that the liquidation transactions carried out pursuant to the provisions of this article are not in compliance with the plan presented as per the third paragraph or if the plan presented is determined as insufficient to fulfill the obligations against the clients at any stage of the liquidation process or that it will cause harm to the rights and interests of the clients for any reason whatsoever, approval regarding the voluntary liquidation is revoked by the Board and liquidation procedures are carried out within the scope of Article 50/A of the Law.

PART THREE

(3) In the event that the members of the company's board of directors, general manager and deputy general managers resign for any reason whatsoever, the reasons for leave should be notified to the Agency within fifteen days as of the date of leave by the relevant person and the related company.

Internal Systems and Information Technology Systems

ARTICLE 12 – (1) In order to monitor and control the risks they are exposed to; companies are responsible for establishing and operating an adequate and effective risk management, internal control and internal audit system to work affiliated to the Board of Directors that is compatible with the scope and structure of saving financing activities and in line with changing conditions.

(2) It is the sole responsibility of the Board of Directors to establish the risk management, internal control and internal audit systems in accordance with this Regulation, to ensure its operability, suitability, effectiveness and adequacy, to ensure the operation of accounting and reporting systems within the framework of the Law and related regulations and to ensure the accuracy and integrity of the information produced with these systems and to determine the authority and responsibilities within the company.

(3) Companies are obliged to establish an appropriate risk management system and to create, implement and report risk policies within this scope in order to effectively and safely pursue their saving financing activities. Risk management activities shall be executed by the risk management department and its personnel who will work under the board of directors.

(4) The risk management system and risk policies cover development of methods and models for the analysis of risks arising from saving financing activities and the continuous measurement and management of these risks.

(5) A risk management committee consisting of at least three members, including at least two members of the board of directors and the manager of the risk management department, is formed by the company's board of directors to assist the Board of Directors in its duties to determine risk policies in line with the risks arising from saving financing activities and to establish an effective risk management system. The risk management committee meets at least once a month.

(6) The person who will assume a senior role in the risk management department is expected to have a bachelor's or post graduate degree in banking, finance, financial mathematics, statistics, econometrics, engineering or equivalent fields, to have at least five years of professional experience in these fields and have the necessary technical expertise to carry out the risk management processes of the saving financing activity. The manager of the risk management department cannot assume an executive role.

(7) Companies are expected to establish an internal control system in order to ensure that the operations are carried out in accordance with the legislation, internal regulations and the nature of the saving financing activity as well as to ensure the integrity, reliability and timeliness of the accounting and reporting system with continuous control activities to be followed and implemented by their personnel at all levels. Internal control activities shall be assumed by internal control personnel, consisting of at least one person provided that the number is compatible with the company's operating structure and scope, who will work under the board of directors and who shall exclusively be engaged in internal control activities. The internal control personnel is expected to submit a report twice a year, as of the end of June and December, regarding the internal control activities performed to the board of directors or a member of the board of directors other than the general manager to be determined by the board of directors.

(8) Companies have to establish an internal audit system, covering all departments and branches, in order to supervise the compliance of its activities with the legislation, articles of association, internal regulations and the nature of the saving financing activity. Internal audit activities shall be assumed, impartially independently and with due professional care, by a sufficient number of internal auditors who are exclusively engaged in internal audit activities and will work under the board of directors. A report regarding the internal audit activities performed is presented to the board of directors at least once a year on the compliance of the company's activities with the legislation, articles of association, internal regulations and the nature of the saving financing activity.

(9) Information systems to be established within the company shall be structured in accordance with the scale of the company, its activities and the nature and complexity of the products offered. Information systems are established within a structure that will allow all company-related information to be stored and used securely in electronic environment. It is mandatory to ensure the reliability of information systems and to timely make necessary changes and updates regularly.

Independent Audit

ARTICLE 13 – (1) Companies are independently audited by independent audit firms authorized by the Public Oversight, Accounting and Auditing Standards Authority within the framework of Law No. 6102, Decree Law No. 660 and relevant legislation to conduct independent audits in institutions that observe public interest.

(2) The independent audit reports on the year-end financial statements of the company should be uploaded to the Agency's database until 15 April of the following year, whereas the independent audit reports covering the financial statements of the company as of June should be uploaded to the Agency's database until 15th of August.

ARTICLE 14 – (1) The Companies are obliged to prepare an annual report, including information on companies' status, administrative and organizational structures, human resources, activities, financial status, evaluations and future expectations of the senior managers, financial statements, summarized board of directors' report and independent audit report and submit it to the Agency no later than end of April of the subsequent year and to publish it on their website as well.

PART FOUR

Saving Financing Activity

Document on general operating principles

ARTICLE 15 – (1) Companies are obliged to prepare a document governing their general operating principles in order to determine the scope and operation of the saving financing activity and the general framework of their Agreements and to pursue their activities in accordance with this document.

(2) Document on general operating principles includes explanations regarding:

a) Total amount of savings expected from the client within the scope of the savings finance contract and the amount of finance earned after the savings period, organization fee and expenses and, if any, calculation methods for other returns and costs within the scope of the Agreement,

- b) The composition of the allowance fund, the date of the allocation and the prerequisites for the allocation as well as the methods for determining the order of allocation,
 - c) Separation of the company's corporate accounts and savings fund pool accounts,
 - ç) Calculation methods for net returns derived from savings fund pool investments,
 - d) Calculation of the value of the assets subject to financing,
 - e) Procedures and principles regarding the contracts concluded for commercial purposes,
 - f) Reimbursement procedures regarding the savings subject to the Agreements terminated before their expiry,
 - g) Calculation of and keeping the contingency reserves,
 - ğ) Elements to be included in the contracts.
- (3) Document on general operating principles is delivered to the Agency before it is put into practice. In case a company is determined to be unable to meet its obligations against its clients, the Agency may require the company to make amendments to the general operating principles document or to adopt a different document that it deems appropriate.
- (4) The company's board of directors is responsible for the preparation of the document on the general operating principles and the execution of the activities in accordance with the said document.

Saving Financing Agreement

ARTICLE 16 – (1) Saving and acquiring finance only for the purpose of acquiring a house, a business property or a motor vehicle can be subject to saving financing agreements.

(2) Saving financing agreements, as a framework agreement, are drawn up by the Association taking into account the Board's approval.

(3) Companies cannot conclude agreements and make transactions with clients who fail to document their identities.

(4) The Agreement includes terms and conditions regarding the following:

- a) Subject matter of financing determined as acquiring a housing, business property or a motor vehicle,
- b) Amount of the agreement, minimum savings rate, amount of financing to be provided, financing cost, if any, and total repayment amount,
- c) The maturities of the savings period and the financing period, anticipated allocation date and repayment dates regarding the financing to be provided,
- ç) Guarantees expected to be required for the financing period as of the financing date,
- d) Conditions for suspension or deferral of savings period payments and financing period repayments and for changing the amount stipulated in the Agreement,
- e) Conditions regarding the transfer and succession of the Agreement,
- f) Organization fee, valuation fee of the collateral to be received in return for the financing to be provided, other expense items and the rates and amounts related thereto,
- g) Income to be provided to the customer for the savings period, if any,
- ğ) Necessary conditions for rendering allowance payments and the method and rules of determining the order of payment,
- h) Conditions for the termination of the agreement and legal consequences thereto,
- ı) The refund period and conditions of the amount to be refunded to the client in case the agreement is terminated for any reason whatsoever,
- i) Insurance policy regarding the financing to be provided, the amount to be insured, the insurance premium to be paid by the client and the terms of accepting the client's current insurance policies,
- j) Default conditions within the context of the Agreement,
- k) The legal consequences that will arise in case the Client fails to render the payments foreseen for the saving period,
- l) Rights related to withdrawal and termination of the agreement,

m) Other rights and obligations of the parties,
n) Consumer arbitration committee or competent court that will be authorized in case of a dispute.

(5) The company is obliged to forward a preliminary information form, which includes the matters stipulated in paragraph four, to the client at least one day before the conclusion of the contract. It is obligatory to include the date and the ongoing document number in the information forms.

Clients' Rights

ARTICLE 17 – (1) Without prejudice to the repayment periods stipulated in accordance with paragraph eight; clients' right to reclaim their savings at the company in the event that the agreement expires before allocation cannot be limited in any way.

(2) It is essential for the companies to effectively inform their clients about the functioning of the saving financing system, the provisions stipulated in the saving financing agreements and the rights concerning withdrawal and termination.

(3) The allocation dates of the group of clients shall be determined in accordance with a lottery over the total number of months foreseen for the group. It is not mandatory to have an equal number of months of the group and the number of clients. For the purpose of the lottery based saving financing groups, it is obligatory to have client with whom a contractual relationship has been established, whose number is equivalent to at least forty percent of the total number of savings months of the group. For groups that do not meet this rate yet, a savings period cannot be initiated, savings payments and organization fees cannot be collected from clients. If any savings payment is collected from any of the clients in the group after meeting this rate, no new clients can be included in the group. Considering the groups where the number of clients falls below this rate due to the clients exercising their right of withdrawal or termination, the company shall use its own resources to complete the minimum number of clients. The Board is authorized to change the rates and limitations set forth in this paragraph or to impose additional restrictions in this regard.

(4) The company is obliged to establish a system to reply questions arising with regard to the services provided and to inform its clients accordingly about this service.

(5) The company is obliged to deliver its clients a copy of the agreement concluded between the parties. Upon request, a copy of any document relating to the transactions of the client is given free of charge.

(6) Companies cannot engage in any incentive practices from within the savings fund pool assets of their existing clients in order to acquire new clients within the scope of saving financing activities.

(7) Guarantees such as mortgages, pledges or promissory notes cannot be obtained from the clients within the scope of the agreement regarding the savings period; and no transaction can be performed that will oblige the customer to pay except for collecting the organization fee.

(8) In case the client exercises his/her right of withdrawal from the agreement stipulated as per the third paragraph of article 39/A of the Law, all payments rendered by the client including the organization fee, shall be returned to the client, in full without any deduction, within fourteen days as of the date when the withdrawal is notified to the company. In the event that the client exercises his/her right to terminate the contract, the savings amount and the accrued return, if any, shall be returned to the bank account opened on behalf of the client within a maximum of six months from the date of the request of refund.

Professional and Ethical Principles

ARTICLE 18 – (1) Companies and their members are obliged to comply with the Professional and Ethical Principles adopted by the Association in order to ensure that the activities/operations are executed in accordance with the Law, this Regulation, other relevant regulations as well as the objectives and policies of incorporation.

PART FIVE

ARTICLE 19 – (1) Pursuant to the fifth paragraph of Article 15 of the Law, the amounts reserved at the rate of five per thousand of the organization fees collected by the companies are followed in the equity.

Standard Ratio

ARTICLE 20 – (1) The ratio of the company's equity to its total assets should be at least three percent and this ratio should be maintained.

(2) The Board may decide to increase the said standard ratio or to differentiate it on a company basis, taking into account the company's assets and financial structure.

(3) A company that cannot achieve the standard ratio will not be allowed to conclude a new contract until it achieves this ratio.

Limitations with respect to Agreements

ARTICLE 21 – (1) The sum of high-value agreements with an allocation amount exceeding one million Turkish Lira to be concluded by a company cannot exceed fifteen percent of the total amount of all agreements concluded by the company as of the relevant date, and high-value agreements specified in this paragraph cannot be subject to lottery-based saving financing agreements.

(2) In order for companies to make allowance payments;

a) for the purpose of client-based agreements; it is obligatory to reach a savings amount of up to forty percent of the contract value and two-fifths of the stipulated contract period,

b) for the purpose of lottery-based saving financing agreements; it is obligatory to reach a savings amount of up to forty percent of the group contract value accumulated in the savings fund pool account of the company and two-fifths of the stipulated group contract period in order to make allowance payments to clients who have not yet been entitled to receive a payment in the lottery.

(3) The two-fifths period specified in sub-paragraph (a) of the second paragraph may be reduced in proportion to the ratio of the savings payment rendered by the client as a down payment to the total contract value.

(4) Considering lottery-based saving financing agreements, clients shall not be entitled to receive allowance payment before three months have passed from the date they were included in the lottery group and without making three savings payments.

(5) Within the scope of the risk management of the saving financing system, the Board is authorized to determine the minimum or maximum rate, limitations or calculation method in addition to the ones stipulated in this article, and to make amendments on the basis of goods, services or institutions regarding the existing rates and the ratio of high value agreements.

Limitations with respect to financing provided

ARTICLE 22 – (1) The total amount of financing that can be provided by a company cannot exceed seventy-five percent of the total of the savings fund pool and its shareholder's equity.

(2) The amount of financing that can be provided to a single client cannot exceed one hundred and fifty percent of the client's total savings foreseen as per the saving financing agreement. This provision shall not apply to lottery-based saving financing agreements.

(3) The maximum maturity of the financing period in saving financing agreements cannot exceed one hundred and twenty months for housing and business property acquisition contracts and sixty months for motor vehicle acquisition contracts.

(4) Real estates to be provided as collaterals in return for the financing of housing and business property acquisition contracts should be valued by appraisal institutions authorized within the scope of the Regulation on the Authorization and Activities of Institutions to Provide

Valuation Services to Banks, published in the Official Gazette dated 12/1/2017 and issued 29946 and in accordance with the procedures and principles stipulated in the said regulation. The liabilities regarding the banks in the said regulation shall apply for companies by analogy.

(5) The sum of financial liabilities that companies can acquire through interest-free financing methods from banks or financial institutions, issuance of lease certificates and similar interest-free debt instruments cannot exceed thirty percent of their shareholder's equity. The excesses that will occur due to the decreases in the shareholders' equity after the acquisition of the financial liability shall not be taken into account in calculating the limits within the scope of this paragraph.

(6) The Board is authorized to change the rates and limitations set forth in this paragraph or to impose additional restrictions in this regard.

Limitations with respect to the investments regarding savings fund pool

ARTICLE 23 – (1) The amounts accumulated in the savings fund pool are invested by the company in the interest-free investment instruments specified in the second paragraph. The income obtained from these investments shall be added to the savings of the clients within the framework of the provisions of the agreement, if the saving financing agreement grants the client a return. In the event that the client is not granted an investment return as per the saving financing agreement, the said returns shall be added to the reserve fund regardless of whether the minimum rate in the first paragraph of Article 30 is met with respect to the savings fund pool.

(2) Amounts accumulated in the savings fund pool may be invested in:

a) domestic lease certificates in Turkish Lira issued by the Ministry of Treasury and Finance,

b) special current or participation accounts in Turkish Lira to be opened with participation banks operating in Turkey,

c) domestic lease certificates in Turkish Lira issued by asset leasing companies operating in Turkey

ç) other interest-free investment instruments deemed appropriate by the Board.

(3) The Board may determine a maximum or minimum rate for each investment instrument listed in the second paragraph.

(4) The company has to act in accordance with the provisions of Article 29 regarding the evaluation of savings fund pool funds.

(5) The accounts in which the amounts accumulated in the savings fund pool are deposited are kept separate from the company's own accounts. These accounts cannot be used except for making the repayments, allowance payments rendered to clients who have terminated their saving financing agreements before the financing period or who have used their right of withdrawal and for investment activities within the scope of this article.

Limitations with respect to real estate acquisition

ARTICLE 24 – (1) The total net book value of real estate owned by a company cannot exceed fifty percent of its equity. Value increases due to revaluation or inflation adjustment and added to the real estate account are taken into account in this calculation at a rate of fifty percent.

(2) Real estates that are certified to have been acquired due to financing receivables within the scope of the saving financing agreements are not included within the scope of the limitation mentioned in the first paragraph. Real estates and other assets, which are compulsorily acquired due to receivables, should be disposed of within three years unless a different period is determined by the Board.

(3) In case the limits mentioned in the first paragraph are exceeded, the excessive amount is taken into account as a deductible item in the calculation of equity.

Limitations with respect to donations

ARTICLE 25 – (1) The amount of donations that the company can make in a fiscal year cannot exceed four per thousand of its equity. At least half of the donations and aids should be considered as expenses or should be deductible while calculating the corporate tax base.

Correction of the Exceedings

ARTICLE 26 – (1) Exceedings regarding the limitations and ratios stipulated in the Law, this Regulation and other legislation issued pursuant to these as well as exceedings regarding the limits and ratios that can be associated with a certain ratio of the shareholder's equity due to the dissolution in the equity should be corrected within a period to be determined by the Agency (BRSA).

PART SIX

Risk Management

Measurement and management of risks associated with saving financing activity

ARTICLE 27 – (1) Companies are obliged to determine appropriate methods to measure and manage the risks they are exposed to exclusively due to saving financing activities and to report regularly in a time and form deemed appropriate by the Agency.

(2) The Agency may require the companies to adopt simulation models to measure and calculate the risks they are exposed to and to produce scientific predictions for the future regarding the calculations within the scope of Articles 28, 29 and 30.

(3) Simulation models can be used in formulating product tariffs, calculating the amount of contingency reserves, using the surplus in the savings fund pool and other liquidity management activities, after receiving the approval of the Agency.

Liquidity Management

ARTICLE 28 – (1) Companies are obliged to protect a certain level of cash or investment instruments that can be converted into cash with a maximum value of two days in order to meet their obligations against their clients within their maturity or legal period.

(2) Companies are obliged to carry out all their activities, including creating the product tariff, determining the allocation date, maintaining contingency reserves, determining the portion of the savings fund pool to be invested, opening branches, employing personnel and advertising and promotion activities, in a way to maintain the liquidity level within the scope of the first paragraph.

(3) Companies are obliged to calculate their liquidity levels to cover a maturity period of at least 10 years and to report them to the Agency accordingly. In the event of a breach of the restrictions set forth in Articles 21 and 22 and other restrictions determined by the Board, the company should immediately notify the Agency about the situation.

(4) Companies are obliged to calculate the liquidity level separately on the basis of each client, lottery group and the total liquidity level of the company.

(5) Future client acquisitions, withdrawals from saving financing agreements, allowance payments and repayments from previous allocations, maturities of investments or period regarding conversion into cash assets are estimated using scientific methods when calculating liquidity.

(6) Companies are obliged to employ sufficient number of personnel and to establish the appropriate information system infrastructure to calculate and manage liquidity.

(7) Calculating, the management and reporting of liquidity are the responsibility of the company's board of directors.

Determining product tariffs and pricing

ARTICLE 29 – (1) Companies are obliged to create a tariff by calculating a total cost for each of the saving financing agreement they offer, including the organization fee and other expenses, and to inform their clients accordingly about all the costs under the agreement. Considering lottery-based saving financing agreements, the tariff is determined on the basis of the number of months of the group, depending on the date of the drawing.

(2) Companies should calculate their costs in a way that does not lead to unfairness among clients in the same period or in the same lottery group.

(3) Companies are required to submit their tariff plans together with the liquidity analyzes regarding the said tariff to the Agency's approval before implementing the tariffs they have prepared. Tariffs that are not deemed appropriate by the Agency cannot be put into effect.

Contingency Reserves

ARTICLE 30 – (1) To meet the unforeseen obligations they may face due to client acquisitions or leaves, companies are obliged to keep at least three percent of the total of their savings fund pool as a contingency reserve in the savings fund pool. The Board is authorized to reduce the minimum rate of contingency reserves by up to one percent or to increase it by twice.

(2) Financial instruments in which the Contingency Reserves may be invested in may consist of participation accounts or interest-free investment instruments that can be converted into cash with a maximum value of two days.

PART SEVEN

Miscellaneous Provisions

Documents to be obtained from abroad

ARTICLE 31 – (1) For the purpose of the applications filed pursuant to this Regulation; foreign nationals are requested to submit documents that are deemed necessary and that can be obtained in accordance with the legislation of the relevant country.

(2) In the event that the documents required from foreign nationals cannot be obtained due to the absence of an authority or system responsible for keeping the records in question in the country where these persons are settled, this situation should be confirmed to the Agency with a document to be obtained from the competent authorities of the relevant country.

(3) In the event that the documents required from foreign nationals cannot be obtained due to the absence of an authority or system responsible for keeping the records in question in the country where these persons are settled, however it is not possible to confirm this situation to the Agency with a document to be obtained from the competent authorities of the relevant country, the real person or legal persons concerned are obliged to provide a written declaration attesting that they are unable to provide the said certification.

(4) Documents to be obtained from abroad for the purpose of the applications filed pursuant to this Regulation should be approved by the competent authorities of the relevant country and the consulate of Turkey in that country or in accordance with the Convention Abolishing the Requirement of Legalization for Foreign Public Documents adopted by Law No. 3028 dated 20/6/1984, prepared within the framework of The Hague Conference on Private International Law. . The Agency may request further information and documents that it deems necessary.

(2) Companies that have decided for adjustment or voluntary liquidation are obliged to submit their independent audit reports to the Agency, within a plan deemed appropriate by the Board.

(3) The provisions of Article 46 shall apply to those who proceed to engage in saving financing activities without making an application to the Agency within within the scope of provisional article 7 of the Law.

Acquired real estate and partnership shares

PROVISIONAL ARTICLE 2 – (1) The limits stipulated in Article 24 regarding the acquisition of real estates shall not apply for the property acquired by companies that were already operating before the law came into force and which obtained an operating license in accordance with the Law and the provisions of this Regulation, hence exceedings thereof shall not be considered within the scope of Article 26. Companies with such excess cannot acquire new property, except for the real estates they may be obliged to acquire due to their receivables within the scope of saving financing activities and the real estates acquired for use as a workplace, until the ratio of their existing real estates to their shareholder's equity reaches the limit stipulated in Article 24.

(2) Partnership shares of companies acquired before the law comes into force shall be disposed of within the period deemed appropriate by the Agency. No new shares can be acquired throughout this period, except for bonus capital increases.

Agreements

PROVISIONAL ARTICLE 3 – (1) Companies are allowed to continue to conclude Agreements, provided that they do not contradict with the provisions of the Law and Regulation, until the framework agreements stipulated in the second paragraph of Article 16 come into effect.

(2) The minimum rate of forty percent stipulated as per the third paragraph of Article 17 shall be applied as twenty percent for saving financing contracts signed until 1/1/2022, provided that the remaining twenty percent is covered by the company's equity, the amount calculated using the simple arithmetic average of the monthly savings payments of the customers in the lottery group.

(3) The two-fifths rate stipulated in sub-paragraph (a) of the second paragraph of Article 21 can be applied as one-fifth for saving financing agreements signed until 1/1/2022. This provision cannot be applied jointly with the third paragraph of Article 21.

Existing branches

PROVISIONAL ARTICLE 4 – (1) Concerning the branches opened before the effective date of the Law, the capital requirement stipulated in the first paragraph of Article 6 shall not be sought. However, companies whose existing branches exceed the number of branches that are allowed in accordance with the capital amount specified in the first paragraph of Article 6 cannot open new branches until such exceeding is corrected.

Liquidation of Existing Companies

PROVISIONAL ARTICLE 5 – (1) The liquidation of companies engaged in saving financing activities as of the effective date of the Law is subject to the provisions of Article 10. The liquidation of companies that do not comply with the provisions of Article 10 is executed by the liquidation committee in accordance with Article 50/A of the Law.
